September 24-27, 2009

Saint Paul, Minnesota

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Steven Berlin Johnson

Program Hosts

The University of Minnesota School of Nursing is celebrating its 100th birthday. Founded in 1909 by physician, Dr. Richard Olding Beard, it is the longest continuously operating nursing program in the country that originated as a fully integrated school within a university. For 100 years, the school has been an international leader in improving the health of patients, families, communities, and populations through scientific breakthroughs, innovative educational programs, generative leadership, and policy formation.

The American Association for the History of Nursing is celebrating its 30th birthday. The American Association for the History of Nursing was founded in 1979 as the International History of Nursing Society. The purpose of the Association is to foster the importance of history as relevant to understanding the past, defining the present, and influencing the future of nursing.

Cover photo: Dramatically addressing the need for nurses, the United States Cadet Nurse Corps was established by Congress in 1943 to support U.S. military, federal governmental, and civilian services for the duration of World War II.

Led by Katharine J. Densford and the School of Nursing's resourceful faculty, the University of Minnesota Cadet Corps was the largest in the country with 1,215 cadets—providing more than one-twelfth of the nation's cadets.

Purpose

The 26th Annual Conference of the American Association for the History of Nursing (AAHN) offers exceptional opportunities for exchange of knowledge about the profession of nursing and its impact across time, populations, and geography. This conference will be particularly exciting as it celebrates both the 30th anniversary of AAHN, as well as the 100th anniversary of the University of Minnesota School of Nursing.

Objectives

Participants will engage in the scholarly exchange of knowledge about the development of nursing and health care in the United States and internationally, while gaining insights on current issues as they are examined through the lens of historical research. They will be able to describe how nurses in different historical periods have positively impacted the health of individuals and groups. The program includes presentations, posters, exhibits, tours, a traditional banquet and a live auction with a few new twists.

Who should attend

As is customary, the conference welcomes all individuals interested in the history of nursing and health care. However, given the diversity of the program, we envision that some newcomers will join us—and learn more about the value of nursing history and the importance of the AAHN in promoting its contributions.

Accreditation

The University of Minnesota School of Nursing, Office of Practice, Business, and Professional Development is accredited as a provider of Continuing Nursing Education by the American Nurses Credentialing Center's Commission on Accreditation.

This conference is designed to meet Minnesota Board of Nursing criteria for continuing education required for licensure renewal. This program expires two years from the certificate date.

Guest Speaker

Steven Berlin Johnson

Steven Berlin Johnson is the best-selling author of six books on the intersection of science, technology, and personal experience. His writings have influenced everything from the way political campaigns use the Internet, to cutting-edge ideas in urban planning, to the battle against 21st-century terrorism.

Johnson's award-winning book The Ghost Map is a thrilling historical account of the worst cholera outbreak in Victorian London and a brilliant exploration of how Dr. John Snow's solution revolutionized the way we think about disease, cities, science, and the modern world. The Ghost Map uses a historical and biographical narrative to discuss ideas that have profoundly shaped the world we live in.

Johnson is a contributing editor to Wired magazine. He lectures widely on technological, scientific, and cultural issues. He has also written for The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, The Nation, and many other periodicals.

He is the co-creator of three influential Web sites: the pioneering online magazine FEED, the Webby-Award-winning community site, Plastic.com, and most recently the hyperlocal media site outside.in.

Both social critic and technologist, Johnson has a genius for mapping the future—for predicting and explaining the real-world impact of cutting-edge developments in science, technology, and media.

Award ceremony

The American Association for the History of Nursing is honored to present distinguished awards and scholarships in nursing history.

Annual auction

Think auction! Sort through your archival collections, closets, and attics. Is there some treasure of which you or your school have many copies? Do you have a house in the country (or city) that you want to auction off for a weekend visit? A dinner that you can host, or some wonderful event that you can auction? You may have the perfect item/s to help AAHN raise funds for exemplary historical scholarships.

A new twist - a celebrity auction! Be prepared to compete for special items donated by famous individuals.

If you would like to donate items for the auction, please ship the item/s to Arlene Birnbaum to arrive by August 1, 2009. If you intend to bring item/s to the conference, please notify Arlene Birnbaum by August 1, 2009 along with a description and value of the item/s. After August 1, auction item/s must be hand-delivered by donor.

Pre- Conference [OPTIONAL]

Thursday, September 24, 2009
1:00-5:00 p.m.

Oral History: More Than Just an Interview!

This workshop will involve participants in exploring the science of oral history and recent trends and issues in conducting oral histories.

The preconference workshop will be conducted by:

James E. Fogerty, head of Documentary Programs, at the Minnesota Historical Society. Fogerty has more than 25 years experience with directing oral history projects and teaching oral history. He has published in the American Archivist, Oral History Review, and related books.

Dominique Tobbell, oral historian and assistant professor in the University of Minnesota History of Medicine program and Erik Moore, University of Minnesota Academic Health Center archivist, will describe the university's Academic Health Center History Project.

The preconference can only accommodate 40 participants; therefore preregistration is required.

Minnesota Historical Society

The Minnesota Historical Society is chief caretaker of Minnesota's story—and the History Center is home to the Society's vast collections. Within its archives reside artifacts ranging from American Indian moccasins and artwork to furniture and photographs, Civil War-era flags and a wealth of genealogical information. All of it is accessible today and for future generations. Through its 26 historic sites and museums, the Society offers opportunities for thought-provoking entertainment, learning and fun.

There is a 12 person minimum for this tour.

University of Minnesota Elmer L. Andersen Library and Owen H. Wangensteen Library

The Elmer L. Andersen Library is uniquely suited to the task of preserving the records of human thought and achievement for the citizens of Minnesota. Here are stored more than 1.5 million volumes of books, manuscripts, illustrations, and artifacts, protected and preserved for posterity. The practical realization of Governor Andersen's vision of the "fourth mission" of the University, the Elmer L. Andersen Library preserves, maintains, and passes on to future generations the raw materials for research and discovery.

The Owen H. Wangensteen Historical Library of Biology and Medicine is a collection of rare books and manuscripts dating from the early 1400s to 1920. Subject concentrations are medicine, both broad and specific, biology, and natural history. A special display on nursing history in honor of the School of Nursing's 100th anniversary will be a part of the library's exhibit.

There is a 12 person minimum for this joint tour.

Conference Locations

The Saint Paul Hotel

350 Market Street | Saint Paul, MN 55102

800-292-9292

www.saintpaulhotel.com

The American Association for the History of Nursing conference will take place in the Saint Paul Hotel. Consistently ranked among the country's top hotels, the famous Saint Paul Hotel provides luxurious accommodations and legendary service to visitors of the Twin Cities.

The Saint Paul Hotel is known for its old-world charm and European inspired elegance, and accommodates the most discerning business and leisure travelers every day. Its great location, premier services, style and sophistication make the Saint Paul Hotel one of the Midwest's finest lodging experiences.

The Great Hall Banquet & Conference Center

180 East 5th Street | Saint Paul, MN 55101

www.thegreathall.net

The banquet dinner will be held at the Great Hall Banquet & Conference Center—just a few short blocks away from the Saint Paul Hotel. Designed in 1914 by Charles Frost and built by railroad entrepreneur James J. Hill, the Great Hall Banquet & Conference Center is a Twin Cities historical gem. Renovated in 1986, the center has recaptured its turn-of-the century style and grace. The focus of the building is the breath-taking Great Hall. Originally serving as the bank lobby, this three-story high atrium was the centerpiece for James J. Hill's Railroad Empire.

The live auction will be held in the Jerome Hill Theater. James J. Hill's grandson, Jerome, had an affinity for film and the movie industry. Therefore, the auditorium that was later added was named in his honor.

Special rates on accommodations

A block of rooms is being held at the Saint Paul Hotel for conference participants. Guest room rates are $174 (plus tax) for single occupancy.

We encourage you to make your reservation early. These rooms are available on a first come, first served basis; call the hotel directly at the number listed on the opposite page. Be certain to mention that you are with the AAHN conference to obtain the special rate.

Transportation and Parking

The Minneapolis/St. Paul International Airport (MSP) is approximately 15 minutes from the Saint Paul Hotel. Transportation is available via taxi (approximately $20 each way) or via Super Shuttle 1-800-258-3826 (a fee applies for this service).

The hotel van is also available to the airport for $15 per person, booked based upon availability through the concierge. The Saint Paul Hotel is not able to pick up passengers from the airport at this time.

Public parking is available in several ramps located nearby, rates vary.

About Saint Paul

Saint Paul is perfect for an amazing number of outdoor recreational opportunities. You'll be amazed by the mighty Mississippi River...miles of trails for biking and jogging... and dozens of lakes for swimming, boating and fishing. And even though our outdoors is really without equal, our indoors will stir your senses as well.

The very best Broadway shows, intriguing art galleries, world-class museums and powerful stage performances will capture your imagination. And what trip would be complete without shopping and fabulous food?

From eclectic to classic, you can shop in renovated historic buildings, unique boutiques and well-renowned department stores. And when it's time for a little refreshment, you'll find restaurants serving up some distinctly regional tastes.
